A broken trolley wire on Second South street, between Main and State, last night created great consternation among pedestrians and held up traffic on the line for a short time. There was a report like that of a small cannon when the wire parted and the broken ends continued to spit fire until word was sent to the power station to turn off the current. A large crowd was attracted by the pyrotechnic display, but the curious were careful to remain at a safe distance from the center of disturbance. The damage was soon repaired.
